NATIONAL RESTAURANT ASSOCIATION EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION

Preparing Military Service Members for Transition and Providing Pathways into the Restaurant Industry

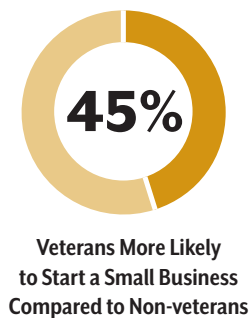

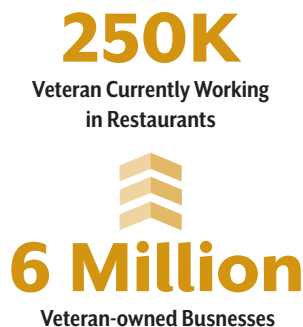

The National Restaurant Association Educational Foundation (NRAEF) supports active, guard and reserve military members, military spouses, dependent children and veterans with their transition out of the military after separating or retiring from duty. This support includes the Foundation's work to:

- › Provide pathways to help service members and their families transition into civilian life
- › Train service members to hone their advanced culinary arts and restaurant management skill sets
- › Honor service members by recognizing the best in foodservice operations through the annual Military Foodservice Awards
- › Link service members to NRAEF's Restaurant & Hospitality Leadership Center
- › Train service members to industry certified standards

PROGRAM BENEFITS:

- › Educates service members on a variety of jobs and careers available to them across the industry and conducts training through workshops and educational sessions led by industry leaders
- › Participates in the Department of Defense's Military Spouse Employment Partnership
- › Recruits volunteer industry professionals to act as Base Evaluators to visit military installations around the globe and evaluate dining facilities for food quality, food safety, cost effectiveness and general operating procedures
