

THE HOPES COMMUNITY COLLABORATIVE

How Key Stakeholders Will Create Successful Pathways For
Justice-involved Young Adults To
Reenter Society

ABOUT THIS GRAPHIC

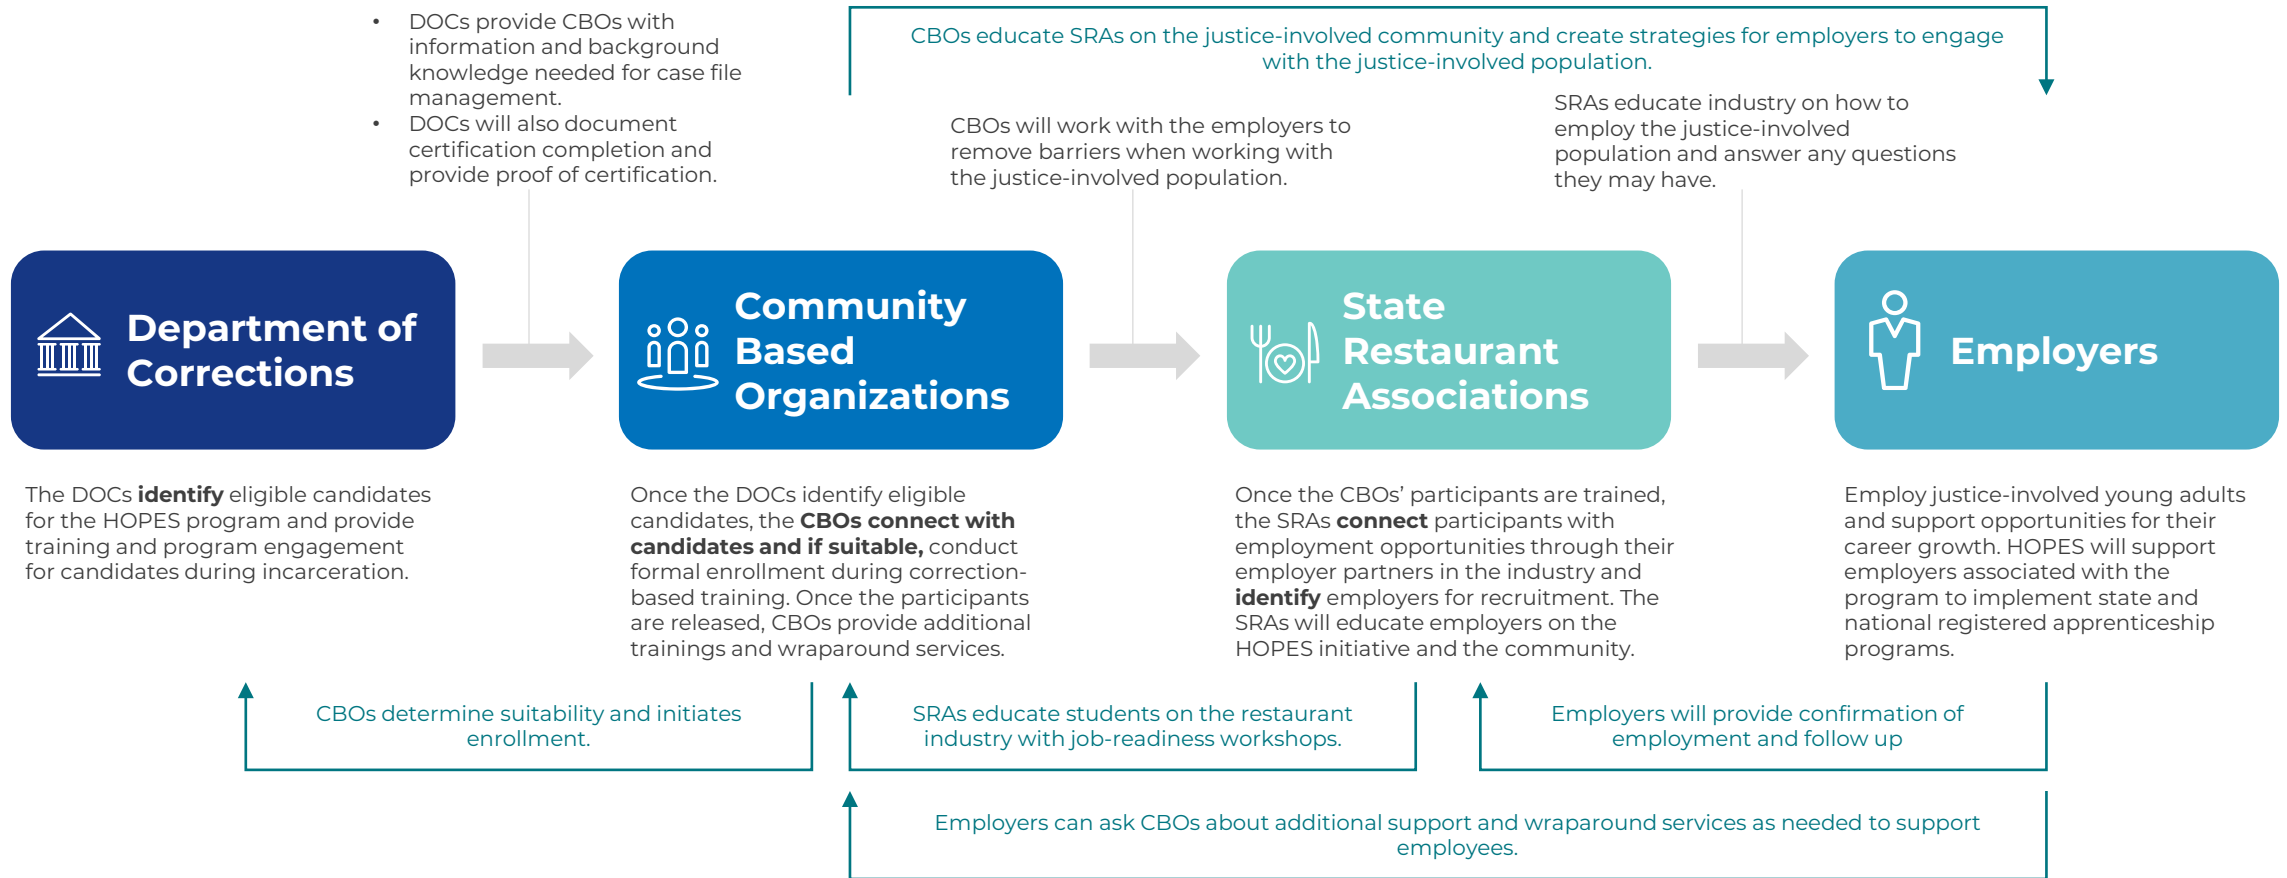

The National Restaurant Association Educational Foundation's (NRAEF) Hospitality Opportunity for People (Re)Entering Society (HOPES) project is a reentry projects grant from the U.S. Department of Labor to support hundreds of justice-involved young people through training, employment and apprenticeships in the restaurant and foodservice industry.

This graphic demonstrates the ways in which key stakeholder groups—Departments of Corrections, Community-Based Organizations, State Restaurant Associations and employers—will collaborate to successfully provide justice-involved young adults with the skills, competencies, and industry credentials needed to secure gainful employment in the restaurant and foodservice industry and, ultimately, advance using registered apprenticeships.
